Street & Contemporary Artist // Body Painting

Akore is considered one of the most well-known and active street artists in Barcelona today. He is known in the Street Art scene for his colorful, powerful and expressive afro graffiti.

His unique style is included in post-graffiti and has been called primitive, tribal, abstract, hip funk, electroafropunk, creating a style called 'Afrocolor', which has already influenced other artists.

His portraits and paintings of African tribal women echo the soul of Mother Africa, with whom he has always felt spiritually connected.

His work is clearly influenced by urban culture, Hip Hop, African-American culture and social movements, by African aesthetics, pop art and graphic design.

His work has been published in different international media such as National Geographic, MTV, Time Out, among others, and has appeared in the documentary series on art 'This is Art' (TV3 / Movistar+).

His paintings have been exhibited in countries such as Spain, Singapore, France or Germany.
